

he was a dangerous case, as the administration of justice and the law were in a state of confusion. The legal crime of murder was defined, and the various gradations of the crime were explained. The evidence was all in favor of the prisoner, and the jury returned a verdict of acquittal. The prisoner was then released, and the case was closed.

clapped their hands; the Gauche maintained silence, and several Hon. Deputies laughed on seeing the agitation of those opposite to them.

The shout of Vive la Gauche having died away, several Deputies of the Gauche exclaimed Vive la Gauche, upon which those of the Droite drew their voices with reiterated cries of Vive la Droite.

A gentleman about 40 years of age, and wearing an order, who was in one of the Tribunes, Reserves above the Cote Droite, leaned over, and said in a distinct voice, Messieurs, Vive la Gauche!

M. De Lapine exclaimed, A bas la Tribune! This exclamation gave rise to some remonstrances, but the Members separated, and the galleries were cleared without difficulty.

As the Hon. Deputies left the House, they were surrounded by numerous enquirers, all anxious to learn the result of the Sitting.

The Chamber of Peers likewise assembled at one o'clock. After the minutes of the last sitting had been read and adopted, the Prince de Polignac delivered to the Chancellor the Royal Proclamation, which the latter read, and the Chamber immediately separated.

The right, meaning the administration party, the centre consists of the moderate party, and the Gauche (the opposition) or left, has also its moderate members. This will explain the terms in the above paragraph intelligible to those who do not understand them.

LONDON, March 7th.—The rumour that a minister is shortly to be sent to Portugal is without foundation. There was yesterday a new discussion on the electoral franchise of the borough of East Bedford. Mr. Tennison proposed that its franchise should be transferred to Birmingham. This proposition was combated by the Ministry, and rejected by 152 votes against 119.

It thus appears that the minority, who are in favor of this commencement of parliamentary reform, is far from growing weaker, and it is affirmed that the government will, ere long, feel obliged to propose some measure of this kind. In the latter part of the discussion, Mr. O'Connell proposed to introduce into the bill a clause substituting the vote by ballot for the present mode. It was objected to as out of order, and Mr. O'Connell gave notice of his intention to introduce it again in the course of the session.
